Narrating the 57th Year of St. Joseph's College

Volume 11 | Collegeville, Indiana, Wednesday, November 26, 1947 | Number 3

New Dietician on Campus; Rush for Larger Belts

During the past three weeks there has been an infiltration of new belts to the Collegeville campus. This has caused considerable lifting of eyebrows on the part of the observant. Why this sudden change on the part of Collegevillians? Has Falvey's, the new men's store in Rensselaer, received an irresistible stock of Hickok's best? No, the answer is a much happier one.

The eyes of the answer man turn in another direction. They seek the little office opposite the cafeteria and settle upon a woman dressed in white. She is Miss Clara Gabel, of Bryant, Ind., St. Joseph's new dietician.

Miss Gabel comes to us well-fitted for this, her first postwar job. She graduated from Ball State Teachers' College in 1940, with an A.B. in Home Economics. She taught Home Economics and operated the school cafeteria at the Arcola, Ind., High School for several years, meanwhile attending summer sessions at Purdue University, where she received her master's degree in Foods and Nutrition, in 1944.

In May, 1945 she answered the call of our country and joined the WAC, with the rank of 2nd lieutenant. She was assigned to O'Reilly General Hospital, Springfield, Mo., until September, 1946, when she was transferred to Tilton General Hospital, Ft. Dix, N. J., where she was stationed until her discharge from the service, early this month. She was promoted to the rank of 1st lieutenant, last May.

In many instances Miss Gabel's observations regarding the army coincides with those of the older G. Is. here. In others, they differ. But Miss Gabel says that she watched the transition of the army's attitude from May, 1945, until the present. She had finished with her processing for discharge and was ready to leave for home at 11 A. M. on the day of her discharge, but had to wait until 4 P. M. for her separation papers. The old "hurry up and wait", she says, is still in effect.

Miss Gabel's duties here are to buy the food, prepare the menus, and supervise the preparation of meals. She has a broad knowledge of the culinary likes and dislikes of men, and this helps eliminate waste. Big hits are beef, hamburgers, chicken in any form, sliced tomatoes, green beans, and peas, just to mention a few. Broccoli, brussels sprouts, cooked carrots, and spinach are often snubbed.

To offset her concentrated work, Miss Gabel seeks release from the daily strain in a variety of ways. Most notable of these is one extreme—flying; and another extreme—knitting. She has 38 hours in the air to her credit, and hopes to obtain her pilot's license, next spring. Her knitting is excellent, thanks to years of experience acquired in her spare time. Her other hobbies are reading, sports (especially bowling and cycling), and the theatre.

Upon her arrival here, Miss Gabel took up residence in the dietician's apartment which was built during the summer. The apartment is not yet wholly furnished, the school authorities thinking it best to allow Miss Gabel to choose furniture suited to her personal needs and tastes. Asked how she likes her new surroundings, Miss Gabel replied: "My apartment is lovely; I think your campus is beautiful, and Rensselaer is a nice little town."

So, it's the food Miss Gabel has set out in the short time she has been with us that has caused expanding waistline and brought all the new belts to the campus. If this keeps up, maybe we'd all better buy suspenders.

Three-year Hobby Results On Display in Dining Room

Three years ago a young priest while making his daily visits to the patients in St. Thomas Hospital, Akron, Ohio, was amazed to see one of them, a nun, painting pictures with water colors on an assembly line fashion. The finished product did not belie the speed. They were some of the finest the priest had ever seen.

His curiosity aroused, he began having daily chats with this talented nun. He soon found that she was Sister Matilda, O.P., one of the finest artists in the country.

On the priest's last visit, she handed him a brush and some water colors, and asked him to try something. With each mistake a kindly criticism was offered.

From that day he has drawn approximately 100 water-color pictures, which have been distributed in about as many directions. Two of his best were recently placed in the dining room. Last year, our library had them on exhibit.

For a man who has never actually had a paid, professional lesson in his life, the Rev. Francis McCarthy, assistant professor in English, has succeeded admirably in transferring his imaginative ideas to the realm of color.

Father McCarthy insists that it is only a hobby, but one "that every person should try sometime in his life."

RAP GIVES BALLOT RESULTS

Three radio comedy programs —Baby Snooks, Fibber McGee and Molly, and Burns and Allen were given "highly acceptable" ratings in the RAP poll covering the week of Nov. 2.

The Jim Backus Show received the lowest rating, "barely acceptable." Frank Sanders, a part of the Backus Show received a -12.5 rating. No program received an unacceptable" or "offensive" label.

Kryl Symphony Enjoyed by All; Pianist Is Next

A man need not know the circumstances under which Debussy wrote his immortal "Clair de Lune," or Schubert his "Moment Musicale" to appreciate the fine music in these two masterpieces. Saturday evening, Nov. 15, many of us sat in the Auditorium with no knowledge of these conditions, yet thoroughly happy with the results as rendered by Bohumir Kryl, his 30-piece girl orchestra, and vocalists. Six demands for encores during the evening testify to the accuracy of this statement.

Mr. Moulton and Miss Santopadre, both in their solos and duets, interpreted the songs of love beautifully. Miss Santopadre's soprano voice definitely showed signs of future greatness. Mr. Moulton's lyric tenor was relatively weak in volume, but this was compensated for by a richness of timbre, so adequately manifested in his singing of "Only a Rose."

Miss Taylor, on the harp, and Miss Schmacker, on the flute, are to be commended for the mastery they have acquired on these two instruments. Mr. Kryl's arrangement of Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods" was unusually good.

The Speckbaugh Memorial Theatre Series will continue on Jan. 21, with the appearance of Marisa Regules, young Argentine pianist, and veteran of Carnegie Hall and civic symphony programs.

D. M. U. Starts Literature Drive

The Dwenger Mission Unit has enlarged the scope of its activities with the formation of a group, headed by Daniel Leeuw, which will collect Catholic literature and publications for distribution. The work will begin on a local scale, and expand as far as time and material limits will permit. The literature gathered will be sent to home and foreign missionaries, to military, hospital and prison chaplains. Similar projects have been undertaken by various student groups throughout the country, with gratifying results.

The Rural Life Club of the DMU is making a detailed study of the Displaced Persons Bill, due to be presented to Congress in the near future. A very obvious reason for this study lies in the fact that America lost some 900,000 immigrants during the war years. As the bill reads, 100,000 displaced persons will be allowed to enter our country, each year for the next four years, but even with this influx there will still be a shortage of several hundred thousands who would have entered our country in normal times. With the introduction of the bill before Congress, letters carrying our opinion on the subject will be sent to our congressmen.

Condolence

In the name of the faculty and students of St. Joseph's, STUFF extends sincere sympathy to Jack Kelly on the death of his mother.

Glee Club and Band Combine To Give Christmas Cantata

Both the vocal and instrumental units of St. Joseph's music department are grooming themselves in preparation for the annual Christmas Musicale, which will be presented here, in the auditorium, Wednesday evening, Dec. 17.

With the football season and its numerous marching practices over, the band, under the direction of Prof. Tonner, is now able to devote nearly all of its efforts towards the moulding of a well-rounded Christmas program. And the Glee Club, under the guidance of Mr. Daniel Connor, assistant professor of music, promises to do its part to uphold the reputation the college enjoys by reason of its Christmas Musicale tradition.

For at least a portion of the program, the local Glee Club will be joined by the girls chorus group of St. Francis College, Joliet, Ill., offering excerpts from a Christmas Cantata, "The Childe Jesus", which will have been performed in its entirety by the combined groups at St. Francis College, the previous Sunday, Dec. 14.

As its contributions to the musicale, the band will present the following numbers:

1) Jingle Bells -- Arr. P. Toner
2) Overture: Carnival of Roses ---------- Olivadoti
3) Bolero Non ---------- Kurtz
4) Marimba Capers (Marimba Solo) ---------- Canera
   Soloist: Robert Griglak
5) Carnival of Venice (Saxaphone Solo) ---------- Del Staigers
   Soloist: Leo Tonner
6) Santa Claus is Coming to Town ---------- Berlin
7) Christmas Medley
a) Hark, the Herald Angels Sing
b) It Came upon a Midnight Clear
c) Come All Ye Faithful
d) Silent Night

The second half of the program will see St. Joseph's Glee Club in its initial appearance on the local stage. Mr. Connor has announced the following offerings:

1) The Wiffenpoof Song ---------- Arr. Hugo Frey
2) Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen -- (Negro Spiritual)
3) Christmas Bells ---------- J. Baptiste Calkin
   Arr. D. Connor
4) Dance, My Comrades ---------- Richard Bennett

The girls of St. Francis will join with the Collegeville Glee Club to present:

1) Cantique Noel ---------- Adam
2) Adeste Fideles -- Traditional
3) Hallelujah Chorus ---- Handel

Collegeville is thus assured of an evening of delightful entertainment in a program of classical, semi-classical, and popular selections, with the Christmas atmosphere predominant—a fitting prelude to Christmas holidays at home.

Father Falter Post To Award Trophies

John Guckien, President of the Father Falter Veterans Club, announced this week that a Sportsmanship Trophy is to be awarded to the players showing the most sportsmanlike attitude in football, basketball and baseball respectively.

Engraved upon the 15½-inch, gold plated trophies will be the following: "Father Falter Sportsmanship Trophy." The various winners will also have their names engraved on a permanent plaque to be displayed in some prominent place on the campus.

Science Society Hears P. Banet

Paul Banet, Ft. Wayne Senior, entertained the members of the Albertus Magnus Society, with a very humorous talk: "The Liver; its Structure, Functions and Diseases," following the Society's regular meeting, Nov. 20. Highlighting the meeting were two instructive movies, "Principles of the Gyroscope," and the Gyroscope Compass System."

A new type of letterhead for the exclusive use of members of the Society was chosen at this meeting. Eugene Beer, Robert Laney, Virgil Wibbelsman, and William Ciminelli were admitted as new members.

Mystery Play Well Received Both Nights

Large, appreciative audiences viewed both Sunday and Monday's presentations of Mr. and Mrs. North. The productions were staged by the Columbian Players under the direction of the Rev. Lawrence Hieman.

Mr. and Mrs. North

The play centers in the North's apartment, Greenwich Place, New York City. Action commences when the ever-present closet door is opened by Mrs. North with the inevitable corpse falling out. Clues to the murder in the spectator's mind appear as Ben Wilson furtively snatches his wife's compact from the cocktail table.

The element of suspense is introduced gradually. A solution appears imminent in the second act as Timothy Barnes, the postman, is about to give the murderer's description. Timothy is added to the collection of corpses before he can give the clinching evidence. Therefore everybody waits until the end to find that Clinton Edwards, the domineering lawyer is the villain.

There is contained a generous amount of comedy in this play, mostly initiated by the flippant, scatterbrained Mrs. North, ably portrayed by Gloria Rasak. Mr. North, played by Don Horst, is cast as the nervous victim of circumstances, and acts his role well. Buono, the Italian janitor as characterized by Frederick Tuske, was exceedingly well done.

The college band under the direction of Prof Paul Tonner played between the acts. Olivadoti's "Hall of Fame" was especially well received.

THANKSGIVING VACATION

Thanksgiving vacation will begin Wednesday, Nov. 26, at noon, and end at 8:00 A. M., Monday, Dec. 1. It is to be remembered that an absence from the last class before and the first class after vacation in your various courses is a "double cut." The staff of STUFF takes this opportunity to wish everyone a Happy Thanksgiving.

Co-operation Is Necessary

In a few of our leisure moments, each week, we browse through the many exchange student publications from other schools on file in our staff office.

This week we made it a point to read the editorials. Practically every one contained a plea for co-operation on the part of the student body. This co-operation, in a whole-hearted fashion, would make student life on the campus much more pleasant.

We really didn't have to read all these editorials to realize the great importance of student spirit. They merely emphasized what every school is constantly searching for.

All of us enjoy seeing undertakings of various student organizations meet with success. But too many bask in the fruitful endeavors of an energetic few. They compliment the decorative scheme at a dance, but refuse to help put up these decorations when asked. They benefit from an accomplishment of a student council plan, but are too indifferent to attend the meetings and give their assistance and moral support to help make the plan a success.

One thing that is striking at St. Joseph's is the relatively few number of men who are actively associated with two or more organiations. We are certain that the reason is not because they wish to be classified as "big guns," but because they see in the aims of these clubs tangible items to make their life here more enjoyable. The fulfillment of these aims necessitates committee work. Someone has to do it, so one or two persons end up on about six different committees.

Please don't get the idea that you should now rush out and join four or five clubs. Club membership is an extra-curricular activity, and therefore must be relegated to a secondary role in student life. We do believe that every man should join at least one club and assume an active part in it. This affiliation will constitute the foundation of an ability to accept and fulfill responsibilities that are to be so important in later life, and it will engender that spirit of co-operation noticeably lacking in this "Hooray for me" existence of ours.

A Word of Praise

Many editorials in student papers are a preaching nature. Very often they are merited, but seldom do we see one expressing an appreciative idea.

There have been comments in this paper condemning the lack of student spirit at athletic contests. We felt that these statements were true and needed to be written. Now we feel just as strongly that the spirit shown at the Chicago Teachers game should be praised, and we take this opportunity to do so.

When you come to think of it, this idea is appropriate for anyone at anytime. How often when a guy "fouls-up" we're quick to criticize, but when the same fellow performs an act of merit, we forget to compliment?

Thank the Giver

Thanksgiving means much more than the usual Turkey Dinner and subsequent siesta. It is a day to thank God for His blessings and for the happiness that is ours.

It would be superflous to enumerate at great length the numerous things that would fall under the classification of deserving "Thanks." Many of them are subjective.

One simple but encompassing example comes to our mind. With the world, especially the European countries, in such a state of choas as exists today, we in America are fortunate and blessed in merely being able to eat turkey. How many starving people across the seas would be more than satisfied with the crumbs that fall from our table!

How often do we not go to the Giver of all good gifts to ask favors! With fervor we beg for success in examinations, in our games, in our daily struggles. He hears our petitions andgrants our requests. Are we as fervent in our thanksgiving for these blessings? Only too often we forget to thank Him! Too few return to acknowledge his goodness and bounty.

Enjoy to the utmost the material things that will contribute to your happiness on Thanksgiving Day, but do not forget to thank God for supplying them.

"Attention, Postmaster: 'Rush this letter to the man I love.'" These words were written on the back of an envelope, addressed to Jim Quinlan, Ad. Building. We hope these are not famous last words, Jim!

Norm Vonder Embse braved rain and almost freezing temperature to visit his beloved in Toledo. He didn't travel by train or plane, but used that well-known thumb. Man o' man, these Collegeville wonders; they're really living!

"Rainbow" Ray O'Donnell ended the football season with a bang. Immediately after the Loras game he was seen in the Rec Hall, having a fireside chat with one of his many admirers. It looked like "C. S." from where we were standing. Can you give us an O. K. on that, Ray?

Statement of the week, by Len Pudge: "I hate mornings. They're so early."

Roger Clarke and Bob Laney have made a new acquaintance with a little mouse, whom they call Oscar. Oscar and the boys haven't been getting along too amicably, the past few nights, though. It seems they can't agree who's going to occupy what bunk.

Though college days have their delights,
They can't compare with college nights.

News from Drexel Way: It seems Taphorn had an itchy problem at chow the other day. The cold weather has forced him into his long woolen undies already. It's the truth; ask him!

Why does Charley Burkart keep complaining of hearing songs in his sleep? Could it be the words: 'Charley is a party-pooper, a super-duper party-pooper.'

Those two brush salesmen, Pat Ormsby and Frank Clark, were seen, last week, trying to borrow a brush for cleaning purposes. That isn't showing too much faith in your own product, men.

Question: What member of the football team, on being introduced to a few of the fairer sex at the Homecoming, was asked: "Are you one of the coaches?" Confess, Joe.

Streamer Kelly and Jim Beane are starting to throw mudballs at passing students, in the hope of drumming up more business for the Careless (?) Cleaners.

Will someone please tell John Grande the meaning of "haughty" and "bon yoky"? It seems Webster missed on these words, leaving John a bit perplexed.

Can Joe McGrath adequately explain that rush trip home, last week? After that morning mail, he moved toward Chicago as though he had been shot from a cannon. It seems he didn't like the heading: "Dear John".

Poll Discovers Reactions To Congressional Probe

A short time ago, the Congressional investigation of screen notables created quite a disturbance throughout the country. Various actors, actresses, producers, and script writers were asked if they thought Communistic activities were flourishing in Hollywood. Some achieved notoriety by refusing to testify, because they believed the government did not have the right to ask them. This leads to the question of the week as put to St. Joseph's students. What do you think of this Congressional investigation, with all of its attendant publicity, of a typical American industry?

Charles Burkart, of Detroit, Mich., believes that "Congress has the right to investigate Communists, since Communism is definitely against the American form of government."

Bob Richards, of Crown Point, Ind., thinks "it is a very good idea. If Congress thinks that an investigation is necessary for possible un-American activities, it should be initiated.

A short and particularly blunt reply was received from Dick Mosher, of Chicago, when asked the question. "This investigation amounted to merely a flagrant waste of taxpayer's money and congressional time that could have been used for a more constructive purpose."

"I definitely thought this investigation was within the power of Congress, because Communism is against the principles of our country, and if it continues to grow, it will ultimately wreck our government." This was the reply of Bob Hogan, Battle Creek, Mich.

Another Battle Creek native, Bob Horner, had this bit of philosophy to dispense. "Congress should handle such investigations with kid gloves. At the same time that they are protecting an individual, they may also be slandering him. Regardless of innocence, the publicity attached to these investigations is often times harmful to the character of the testifiers."

Ernie Stockman, in his reply, strikes a keynote that is echoed in many homes throughout the country. This Chicago student says that "the purpose was good, the results sickening."

And so it goes. The text of these answers would indicate that Congress should have the right to investigate any industry or organization that may be a breeding place of harm to our government. But they also indicate that thus far Congress has accomplished very little in these investigations.

Students who intend to apply for acceptance in the 1948 Freshman Class in Colleges of Medicine will be interested in the following announcement:

The deadline for registration for the Medical Aptitude Test, scheduled for Feb. 2, 1948, has been extended to Dec. 15. This test, which is required for admission to Colleges of Medicine, will not be available to any individual except on Feb. 2.

The annual Triduum in honor of Mary Immaculate will be held Dec. 9, 10, and 11. It is sponsored by the Sanguinist Club.

Services will consist of Novena prayers during Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament followed by the Rosary and the Litany of the Blessed Virgin.

The Triduum will end with general Communion at the 7:00 a. m. Mass, Friday, Dec. 12, the feast of Our Lady of Guadalupe.

Each veteran in training under the G-I Bill will receive a notice from Veterans Administration with future subsistence checks advising him not to cash the check, if he believes he is not entitled to the full amount of the payment.

The notices are designed to help eliminate subsistence allowance over payments and the necessity for refund by veterans, VA said.

The notice informs the veteran that, according to VA records, he is still in training. It urges the veteran to contact his nearest VA office before cashing the check, if he has stopped training, or has any reason to believe the check represents an overpayment of his account.

If the veteran is entitled to a part of the money, VA said it will make every effort to adjust his records and issue another check without delay.

Sophomore Center Chosen for Award By His Teammates

Bud Greif

Charles (Bud) Greif of Evansville, St. Joseph's nominee for all-star honors, has been chosen by his teammates as the most valuable player on the 1947 Puma football squad. On Nov. 29 he will accompany head coach Dick Scharf to Indianapolis, where all the Indiana Conference head coaches and the most valuable players will be honored by the Downtown Coaches Club of that city.

Greif, an 18-year-old sophomore, has been outstanding at his center position all season long, and has made opposing coaches sit up and take notice of his vicious and bruising line backing. The six-feet-one-inch 185 pounder uses his weight to good advantage and is not easily moved out of a play, even by a burly 200-pound opponent. Although noted particularly for his defensive ability, Greif is a fine offensive pivot man. He has helped open many a gap in the center of the line and is a master of the one-handed pass. While snapping the ball back with one hand he has the opportunity to study the defensive set up.

Coming to St. Joe from Reitz Memorial High School, Evansville, Greif gained a world of experience operating at the center spot on the 1946 eleven. He played most of the season, alternating with John Grande, of Indianapolis, at the pivot post.

Except for the first game of the season which he missed because of an ankle injury, Greif has been a veritable iron man. Because he is so valuable on both offense and defense, he has had little opportunity to rest, much to the dismay of the Puma adversaries.

Greif has his own opinions about backing up a line on the deceptive "T" formation. He states that a line backer can learn a lot watching opposing quarterbacks; sometimes they flick a quick glance in the direction of the play, or sometimes the eventual ball carrier will go into a nervous little twitch, which gives him away. Greif gets other tips from the types of blocks which are aimed his way, but very often miss their mark.

His athletic activites are not confined to the gridiron. Besides the letter which he won in football, last year, he also lettered in basketball and baseball. He was a member of the first five on the cage team, and served as an understudy to catcher George Ellspermann during the baseball campaign.

St. Ambrose Here

The Rev. Edward Roof, chairman of the Athletic Board announced today that the sixth game in the new Midlands Conference has been arranged with St. Ambrose, of Davenport, Iowa, and will be played in the fieldhouse, Feb. 20.

It was also announced that the second meeting of the Midlands Intercollegiate Conference will be held Saturday, Nov. 29, at the Palmer House, Chicago, to complete plans for the current basketball season.

Air Attack Fatal In Season Finale

The Duhawks of Loras, unable to gain consistently through a strong St. Joe line, took to the air last Sunday afternoon to whip a stubborn Puma eleven 21-6, on the Rensselaer field. The victory was the ninth of the season for the Iowa team and enabled them to complete their first undefeated season since 1922. This game also marked the first time that a Loras team had scored on St. Joseph's in four contests.

Plenty of action was provided by the two elevens, and for three quarters the game belonged to anyone. Eight fumbles and two goal line stands, plus numerous long runs and long passes, kept the game wide open from start to finish. In the final analysis it was a weak pass defense, the same thing that hampered them in previous contests, that cost Dick Scharf's squad a possible upset victory.

All three Loras scores were produced through the air, southpaw quarterback, John Rohan, doing the pitching. In the second period after St. Joe had a touchdown called back because of an illegal handoff, Rohan picthed 23 yards to Ralph Peterson for the initial score. Mike Elliot booted the point.

The Pumas came roaring back when guard John Lucas intercepted a Duhawk pass on the visitor's 20-yard line. A series of line plays took the ball to the six. From this point quarterback Dick Milkint, subbing for the injured Tom Quinn, shot a pass to Joe Broderick standing in the end zone. Hudson's conversion try was blocked.

Loras' 200-pound fullback, Bob Hanlon, who battered the Puma line unmercifully all afternoon, took the second-half kick-off and bulled his way through the entire Collegeville defense, finally being hauled down from behind by Broderick on the five-yard line. At this point the St. Joe defense stiffened, and in four charges at the line the Iowans were unable to push across. After Broderick had kicked out, freshman Rohan hurled a 17-yard aerial to end Bill Treacy who crossed the goal line. Elliot's kick was good.

Immediately after the kickoff the Scharfmen began to move. The drive which included a sleeper pass to Cliff Beaver, good for 30 yards, carried them to the Loras five-yard line. Here, however, the Pumas stalled and the Hawks took over on downs.

The Rohan-Peterson combination clicked once again in the last stanza for the final Loras score. The play covered 39 yards. Elliot converted for the third time.

Rohan's passing was undoubtedly the feature of the contest. The 17-year-old Chicagoan completed eight of 14 heaves for 162 yards, including the three scoring tosses. The work of the St. Joe defenders, Bud Greif, Dick Milkint, and John Lucas in particular, was the bright spot on the Collegeville side.

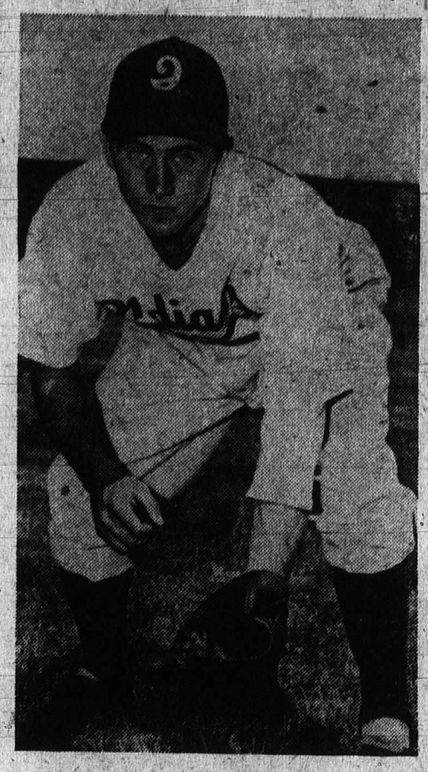
Three Students Aim For Pro-Baseball; Staucet to Albany



Frank Staucet

Frank Staucet, 24, of Whiting, is one of three students on the St. Joe campus who is attempting to crash the select ranks of major league baseball. The other two are southpaw pitchers Jim Beane, of Evansville, and Charlie Hodges, of Petersburg, Ind.

Staucet returned to the Collegeville campus in September after enjoying a very successful season with Selma, Ala., of the Southeastern League. The property of the Pittsburgh Pirates, Frank pounded out 158 hits, including 28 doubles, five triples, and five home runs, and drove in 57 markers, while compiling a very respectable 290 average. Besides this, his 427 assists at shortstop was a new Selma record, and his 78 double plays helped the Selma club to a new twin-killing mark. According to southern sports writers Staucet is one of the finest defensive short fielders ever to play in the Southeastern League. As an indication of his value, he was awarded the shortstop berth on the Southeastern League All-Star team.

Coming to St. Joe in Sept. 1941 from Noll High School in Hammond, Staucet was a member of the freshman basketball squad and was the regular shortstop on the freshman studded 1942 baseball team, which won the Indiana Conference championship. On this championship outfit were Gil Hodges, catcher for the Brooklyn Dodgers, and Jim Beane, Charlie Hodges, Paul Reichert, and George Ellspermann, all of whom are now playing professional baseball.

In the summer of 1942 Frank began his professional career, when he was signed by the Indianapolis club of the American Association. He was still with Indianapolis in 1943 when he was inducted into the navy. After a three year tenure in service, including 19 months in the Pacific, Frank was discharged in March, 1946.

After spending the first semester of 1946 at St. Joseph's, he left school to join Indianapolis in spring training. The Indians, however, optioned him to Evansville in the Three-Eye League, but plagued by injuries, he saw little service. Once again he returned to school in Sept. and left in Jan. 1947, to begin his highly successful campaign with the Selma nine. Next season Staucet will play Class-A ball. He will report to Albany in the Eastern League.

As did many ballplayers returning from service, Staucet had a difficult time hitting his stride. He encountered further trouble when he was hampered by injuries. Last year, with Selma, however, he found himself, and seems to be well on his way to the "big show."

SILVER GRILL

I-M Basketball To Start Soon; Jones Directs

With the advent of the Varsity basketball season comes the beginning of intramural basketball activities.

This year, the contests will get under way immediately after the Thanksgiving holidays, and will extend through the winter. There will be about twenty teams in competition—comparable to last year's number. The teams are being placed in two separate leagues: the "A" league will be made up of the more experienced players, while the "B" league will give those with less ability an opportunity to play the game.

The intramural season will be divided into two rounds. At the end of each round a play-off will decide the winning teams, and the players will be awarded miniature gold basketballs.

Pumas Capture Cage Opener; Down Chicago Teachers 73-37

Coach Art Cosgrove's first five piled up a 25-point lead and then allowed the reserves to finish the game, as the St. Joe quintet opened the basketball season by swamping a hapless Chicago Teachers five, on Nov. 22, 73-37. Ray Patterson whipped in 17 points to pace the St. Joe scorers, and teammate Dick Collins tallied 10.

Sparked by Trahey and Brankato, the Teachers managed to stay within striking distance for 10 minutes. Midway through the first half St. Joe held a slim 22-18 lead. A flurry of one handers by Patterson and Joe Jansen, however, shot the Collegeville quintet into a 36-20 halftime lead.

After the starting five had added 10 points to their intermission margin, the reserves were sent into the fray to play out the remaining 15 minutes.

The Teachers were hopelessly outclassed by the St. Joe combine, and during the final half pressed the Pumas closely in an effort to hold the score down. The Pumas outran, outshot, and in general had too much for the Windy City team. A return match will be played in Chicago on Jan. 22.

Football Banquet To Be Held Dec. 9

The Athletic Board of St. Joseph's has announced that arrangements have been made for the annual post-season football banquet.

The dinner, to be held in the cafeteria, Dec. 9, is to honor the Varsity squad, as well as the members of the championship intramural team. Members of these two groups, the names to be announced later, will receive monograms and miniature footballs, respectively.

Heading the list of speakers is Mr. Thomas J. Walsh, of Chicago, former president of the Professional Golfers Association, and of the Chicago White Sox Baseball Club.

Mr. Walsh is a very interesting after-dinner speaker, and is in demand by many high schools and colleges throughout the year. He is the owner-manager of the Westgate Country Club, Chicago.

This dinner is open to the student body. The price will be announced at a later date.

Coach Art Cosgrove

Begins Second Year At St. Joseph's

Art Cosgrove is in his second year as St. Joseph's head basketball coach. He was initiated into collegiate basketball last season when he took the helm to begin St. Joseph's post-war comeback. Considering his 1946-47 squad was composed entirely of inexperienced freshmen, his record of eight wins against 11 losses was an exceptionally good one.

Cosgrove came to Collegeville from Reitz Memorial High School in Evansville where he had gone in 1940 from Indianapolis. In Indianapolis he had coached Cathedral and Sacred Heart High Schools. At Reitz Memorial, Cosgrove's teams won 63 of 78 contests. His 1940 quintet won the state Catholic championship.

The burly red head is an alumnus of Butler University, Class of 1937. He starred on the basketball squad at Butler, serving two years as captain.

Art started training his 1947-48 Puma cagers with out-door cross country running and other fresh-air exercises. His 21 man squad, consisting of three juniors, 11 sophomores, and seven freshmen, are all in the peak of condition. Unlike last year when he had but five men, Cosgrove has this year, two teams fairly equally matched in ability. Although his first five of Collins, Bauman, Krodel, Patterson, and Jansen will see the most action, his second five of Brennan, Kusek, Fischer, Barton, and Hoffman will see plenty of service. "And I've got a third five that is coming along well too," Art declared. "Only don't let me sound too optimistic; the other squads are tougher too," he added.

Although Coach Cosgrove does not wish to be overly optimistic, those who witnessed last Saturday night's encounter with the Chicago Teachers in the fieldhouse are not hesitant stating their exuberance. The Pumas smothered the Teachers 73-37. The red head has a good ball club, and although it may not go undefeated, a well-coached Puma quintet will give a good account of itself in all of its 22 games.

Rensselaer Doctor Completes 25 Years; Dr. Kotanyi Arrives

Dr. Cecil Johnson, well known Rensselaer physician and surgeon, recently completed 25 years of service in the health center at St. Joseph's. At a testimonial dinner, the evening of Nov. 3, the Very Rev. Henry A. Lucks, president, lauded the self-sacrificing work rendered by Dr. Johnson during the past quarter of a century, and expressed the hope that God would grant our good friend many more years in which to work for the community. As a token of esteem and in appreciation of his work Dr. Johnson was presented with various items for fishing, a sport from which the doctor derives much pleasure and relaxation.

Dr. Johnson was born in Pittsburgh, Pa. He graduated from Northwestern University School of Medicine, and served his internship at Michael Reese Hospital, Chicago. A practicing physician and surgeon for the past 32 years, Dr. Johnson specializes in the fields of surgery and x-ray.

Nov. 13, marked the arrival at St. Joseph's of Dr. Emeric Joseph Kotanyi, M.D; D.D.S., who will be in charge of the college health center. Formerly a professor at the Texas Dental School and the Senior Medical School in Galveston, Dr. Kotanyi has assumed the duties of physician, and in the future, will teach several premed courses and conduct medical research. He has many previous years of clinical work and research experimentation.

Born in Szeged, Hungary, Dr. Kotanyi studied medicine at the German Medical University in Prague. After several years spent in experiments and research at the University of Vienna, he came to the United States.

Since his arrival in America he has succeeded in finding numerous outlets for his deep Christian devotion. He has been able to make numerous yearly retreats and has become quite active in Catholic Action movements. His religious memberships include such prominent societies as the Society of the Third Order of St. Francis, the St. Vincent de Paul Society, the Alhambra, the Sierra Club and the Knights of Columbus. Of his eight years in the United States, Dr. Kotanyi can say, "To be a Catholic and an American are the most important things in the world. Be a Catholic and all else follows."

A lover and pursuer of the arts, the Doctor has a special fondness for music. As a linguist he is quite fluent as a master of some five languages. Aside from his diversions, he has made extensive experiments in the field of vitamins, and has spent a great deal of time in the study of tumors. With such accomplishments and interests it is evident the type of success Dr. Kotanyi will have at St. Joseph's.

French Club Formed; Secretary Elected

"Le Cercle Francais," a new club for students who have successfully completed at least one semester in French, has been organized. It was activated Tuesday evening, Nov. 11, when its prospective members met to draw up a constitution and elect officers.

The aims of the club are to further interest in things French, to promote a better understanding of the language, and to offer mutual assistance in difficulties encountered in the study of the language. Except for necessary business, its meetings will be conducted in French, and the permanent document of the constitution will be written in French.

Since only a few students on the campus meet the requirements for admission, the club has made provision that its members rotate alphabetically as president. When membership will have exceeded 15, a president and a secretary-treasurer will be chosen. Meanwhile, Robert Simonis, Ft. Wayne Soph, will handle the club's business, as business secretary, an office provided for while the membership is under 15. The office will be discontinued when the club expands.

Mr. H. Mammoser, Rev. Albert Gordon, Deliver Addresses

Harold J. Mammoser, addressing the members of the Commerce Club, Monday, Nov. 10, in the Auditorium, spoke on what a student of business will face upon leaving college.

Mr. Mammoser, an executive of the Tokheim Oil Tank Co., gave an account of the progress of business today, as compared with the barriers with which it was confronted in the past. He stressed the fact that success depends upon the contribution an individual is willing to make to reach his goal, and whether he is willing to become a specialist in his field through constant study of existing conditions in the business world.

The Economic Division and the Accounting Division of the Commerce Club were present in a joint meeting Monday evening, Nov. 17, to hear Father Gordon give a very interesting lecture on "The Comptroller in the Business World."

"There's opportunity for all who are willing to apply themselves," said Father Gordon. The lecture was followed by a series of questions in reference to the lecture, after which a short discussion relative to the forthcoming dance took place.

Members of the Commerce Club played host to approximately 40 girls from Chicago's Mundelein College, Saturday evening, Nov. 22. These charming young ladies were invited to come to Collegeville to attend the St. Joe-Chicago Teachers basketball game and a dance in the Rec Hall after the game. Dancing began at 10:30 and continued until 12:30, with only members of the Commerce Club and their guests participating. Sandwiches and refreshments were served during the evening.

Cangany to Head Indianapolis Club

On Oct. 1, the first meeting of the Indianapolis Club was held in the recreation hall and an election of officers yielded the following results: president, Jack Cangany; vice president, "Gabby" Freeman; secretary, Jim Welch; and treasurer, Joe Lawson. Plans were made at the meeting for a party to be held after the Butler-St. Joseph football game. The party took place in the Knights of Columbus auditorium in Indianapolis and a very large attendance gave evidence of its success.

Recently, another meeting was held at which a constitution was discussed. Another get-together following the Butler basketball game on December 13, was also considered.

The aims of the organization are: first, to give the alumni a chance to get together at these occasional parties and recall the days they spent on the campus, and secondly, to welcome the teams whenever they journey down to Hoosierland's Capital.

"Lucifer at Large" Presented Nov. 16 Racial Debate Held

"Lucifer at Large", under the able direction of John Dueweke, was presented to the community students, Nov. 16, as the initial production of the Curtain Club. Albert Reed, with an excellent supporting cast, played the leading role. Al's characterization of the devil will long be remembered, and the work of Alfred Kovac, Michael Lizza, and William Miller deserves special mention.

On Nov. 23 the Club offered its members a special treat in the form of a debate on the interracial question. Leo Fullenkamp, Eugene Weitzel, and James Miller defended the proposition: "The Negro should be admitted to all social circles; there must be no discrimination because of race, color or creed." The negative viewpoint was upheld by Thomas DeBrosse, Donald Ritzler, and Donald Isenbarger.

New appointments in the Club are: Ronald Schiml, marshall, and John Ruffing, librarian.

Murder Trial Draws Many Law Students

Student interest in the murder case, State vs. Brown and Badgely, has been running high, and a good daily percentage of spectators in the Jasper County courtroom has been St. Joseph's students.

The two men, Robert Brown and Frank Badgely, are accused of the slaying of officers Donald Cook and John Gerka, on the night of January 11, 1947. However, the State is trying them in this case only for the murder of Gerka. In the event that the alleged killers are acquitted on the charge of killing Gerka, they may still be tried for the murder of Cook.

One St. Joseph's student has a special interest in the case. He is Peter Gerka, a freshman living in Science Hall, brother of the slain officer, Gerka. Peter refuses to form an opinion regarding the guilt of the accused men. No one is more interested in seeing his brother's killer convicted, but he says that the jury's verdict regarding Brown and Badgely will be good enough for him.

Early this year, the defense won a change of venue from Lake County, where public opinion was high against the defendants, both of whom are ex-convicts, to Jasper County. The presiding judge is Judge Robert Thompson, of Pulaski County. The greatest difficulty encountered by the court to date was seating a jury. Four weeks were spent in examining the 321 veniremen called, before the jury was filled.

Jim Mangan Leads New Chicago Club

The Chicago Club of Saint Joseph's College was formed on the campus, Oct. 22, when students who hail from Chicago, or who previously lived in Chicago for a number of years, banded together for the purpose of effectually uniting the Chicago students on the campus and to foster interest in the school.

Officers chosen to guide the destinies of the new club are: James Mangan, pres.; William Brennan, vice pres.; Richard Collins, treas.; and Albert Moran, sec. The Rev. Edward Maziarz was elected moderator.

Plans were discussed for a charter and a Christmas holiday dance. At a subsequent meeting the charter was approved and the Terrace Casino in the Morrison Hotel in downtown Chicago was selected as the site for the Christmas dance. It will be held on Dec. 28.

Business Major Semester Grad; Desires Politics

The senior of the week is Frederick N. Berghoff, Ft. Wayne politician. He was born there March 4, 1923; spent eight years studying the three "Rs" at St. Mary's school, and the following four years at Central Catholic High, graduating in 1941.

Not satisfied with merely 12 years of schooling, Fred left his hometown and moved to St. Joe in the fall of that year. After completing half of his college work, he succumbed to the glamor of khaki and marched off to the war, in May, 1943.

Fred wasn't one to keep his feet on the ground, so off he went into the "wild blue yonder." As an aerial gunner, he sat out the war on a blister on a B-24. Back and forth he flew over the Pacific on submarine patrol. He claims the only real danger for him in the war was our own Navy ships. Those trigger-happy gobs shot at anything that didn't resemble a clay pigeon. Fred doesn't state whether his crew sunk any U. S. ships, or not. Such a mixed-up war it was!

Came March 7, 1946; and once again it was Mr. Berghoff, when he received his diploma from Uncle Sam. So he packed away his "glory bars" and returned to St. Joe campus. This mission Fred will complete in January, when he will receive his discharge as an Accountant Major.

For four years Fred has worked in the athletic gear room, where he is now athletic manager. His job is to see that the men are fitted out with proper equipment; seeing that each man is sized up correctly is quite a job, as he can testify. Also he keeps tab on the gear and men, when the team travels. Fred has done well on this job, and can brag that he has never lost a man.

Fred has spent his vacations as an athletic director at a beach near Ft. Wayne, supervising games and rescuing from the angry waters any fair damsel who desired an introduction to this six-footer. Rumor has it that this job was strictly political, and this year the old Ft. Wayne political machine was voted out of office, so perhaps Fred will enter the Berghoff brewing business, or change political parties. He is anxious to get started, however, with some accounting firm in Ft. Wayne.

Berghoff has been an active member of the Commerce Club for four years; last year, serving as its president. He was a member of the Student Council, last year, also. When Fred leaves St. Joe, he is going to miss his favorite haunt, Jonas'. In its place he is reluctantly substituting "The Yacht Club" in Ft. Wayne.

Just what the future will bring Fred we cannot know. He is not a confirmed bachelor, and hopes to find a wife. Any girls interested? His favorite hobby is attending wedding receptions, just so long as he isn't the one who has to cut the cake.

Over a span of six years Fred has seen a lot of changes at St. Joe. They strike him as indicating steady progress and improvement.
